

Visual Description: Connor is displayed in the bottom right corner on top of an ongoing series of dance and movement montages. Connor wears glasses and a burgundy short sleeve button up shirt. He signs in ASL.

CRIPSiE: The Collaborative Radically Integrated Performers Society in Edmonton.

CRIPSiE embraces crip and mad aesthetics. Crip and mad aesthetics involve celebrating and exploring the generative possibilities of 'disability' and 'mental illness,' in terms of how these experiences can offer important alternative perspectives on art processes, form, and content.

Through our artistic practices, workshops, classes, and consulting we strive to support the accessibility and inclusivity of high-quality performing arts in Edmonton. If you are interested in partnering with us, contact us at info@cripsie.ca.

Come see our performances - you will be awed! You can join our yearly fall classes to learn more. You can book a consultation, performance venue audit to ensure your space is accessible, or book a workshop with us.

We hope to meet you soon! Thank you!
